LOCATION

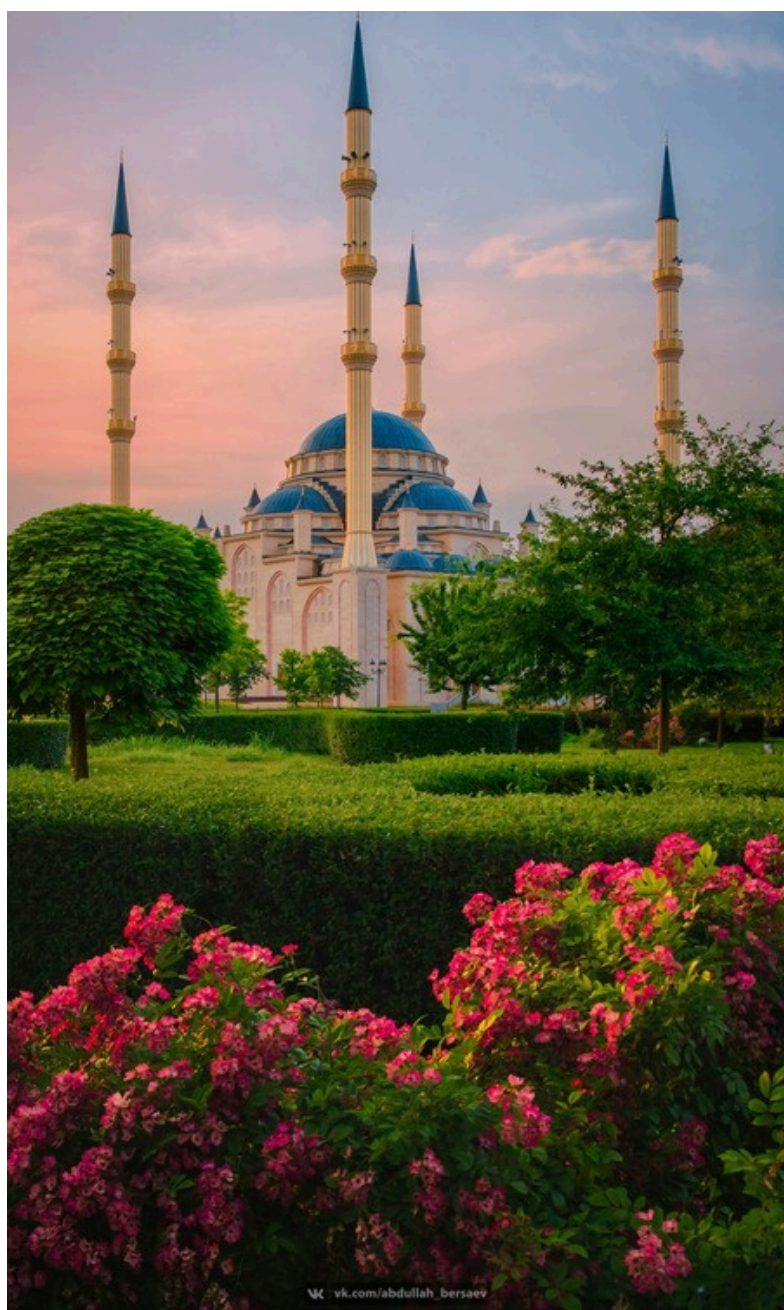

The Chechen Republic is situated in the heart of the North Caucasus, bridging the majestic Greater Caucasus Mountains in the south with the vast Chechen Plain and the Terek–Kuma Lowland in the north. Its unique position gives the region a remarkable mix of mountain, foothill, and steppe landscapes. The capital city, Grozny, is located along the Sunzha River and serves as a major educational, cultural, and economic hub. From Grozny, students can easily travel to other cities in the North Caucasus and southern Russia.

GROZNY

Grozny is a Caucasian phoenix city, reborn from the ashes.

It is the capital of the Chechen Republic—a city with a dramatic history that has endured wars, deportations, and large-scale destruction. In the 1990s, Grozny was almost completely destroyed. Today, it is a modern, rapidly developing city, known for its new buildings and contemporary architecture. Grozny is safe for tourists, and the Chechen people are among the most hospitable in Russia.

At the end of the 1990s, Grozny was the largest industrial, cultural, and scientific center of the North Caucasus. In the 1990s the city was destroyed and its infrastructure almost completely. In 2006, an active phase of reconstruction began. Grozny turned into a vast construction site, and between 2007 and 2009 the city was rebuilt at a pace that under normal conditions would have taken decades. Today, Grozny has moved beyond recovery challenges and is focused on intensive development, with the city center acquiring a modern and dynamic appearance.

THE HEART OF CHECHNYA MOSQUE

The Heart of Chechnya Mosque is the main mosque of Grozny and one of the largest mosques in Europe. It is a symbol of the city's revival, known for its impressive Ottoman-style architecture, elegant minarets, and beautiful interior decoration. The mosque is located in the city center and serves as an important spiritual, cultural, and architectural landmark of the Chechen Republic.

Dear students,

While exploring the Chechen Republic, you will discover one of the most unique symbols of our history – the ancient Chechen watchtowers. These stone towers were built between the 12th and 17th centuries and served as both defensive structures and symbols of strength, honor, and unity of the Chechen people. These towers were traditionally constructed in mountainous areas, especially in the southern regions of Chechnya, where families and clans (teips) built them to protect their communities. The architecture of the towers is remarkable: tall, narrow, and made entirely of stone, often rising 20–25 meters high. Despite centuries of time, many of them still stand strong today.

Visiting these towers gives you the opportunity not only to enjoy breathtaking mountain landscapes but also to touch centuries-old history and understand the resilience and spirit of the Chechen people.

If you travel to the mountains, you may see preserved towers in places such as Itum-Kale, Sharoy, and other highland districts.

Here you can see the map of Chechnya with the regions split up by the traditional felt carpets (Istang) which are from these region. The Chechen carpet is not just a decorative item; it is a vivid expression of Chechen culture, history, and craftsmanship. Traditionally handmade, these carpets are woven with great care and skill, often by women in Chechen households, and have been an essential part of domestic life for centuries.

The Ushkaloy Towers date back to the 10th–11th centuries. They are believed to have served a border-guard function, and it is assumed that a customs checkpoint may have been located inside. The towers are approximately 12 meters high. Three of the four walls are built from local sandstone, while the fourth wall is formed by a natural rock cliff, and the roof is a stone overhang.

Chechens view children as very holy, just like women. They're the future of us and that's why Chechens were always particularly fond of their kid's upbringing.

Regardless of gender, Chechens always teach their children to respect the elders, to recognise the authority of their parents, to revere Chechen folk costumes ('Adatash) and many other things. All harmful habits are strictly forbidden.

Grandparents also play a big role in the upbringing of the children among Chechens. They're the wisest and are best able to teach the next generation the right things.

Other certain customs among Chechens in the upbringing of their children are: not praising them in front of others or too much in general, it is believed to spoil them.

A very important thing is to kill selfishness. It's obligatory for both genders to immediately stand up when an elder enters the room. It's obligatory to teach them to be modest in everyday life, even with food. Both genders are also taught to help adults in any way they can.

Attitude of Chechen men towards (Chechen) women:

„In general, Chechens are very chaste towards women, the mutual relations of young men and girls bear the character of respect for female modesty. Chechens will never allow themselves not only to offend a girl somehow, but even to touch her with their hand, otherwise universal contempt awaits him"

"Mutual relations between young men and girls are distinguished by full respect for female modesty, which is the dignity of a girl"

Some interesting facts about Chechen tribes

Unlike many other nations, the Chechen people never had princes or monarchs. Chechen society was traditionally organized around clans (teips) and councils of elders. Leadership was based on respect, wisdom, and consensus rather than inherited titles. Decisions were made collectively, and authority came from personal qualities and the trust of the community, not from royal lineage.

This unique social structure helped preserve equality among clans and reinforced the importance of family honor, community solidarity, and respect for elders.

Like almost every other nation in the Caucasus, Chechens are also divided into different tribes (Tayp). Tribes played an important role in the socioeconomic life of the Chechens in the middle ages, and continued to be an important cultural part to this day. Tayps often descend from a common ancestor or geographical place.

1. Something interesting about Chechen tayps is that almost all of them had their own god and their own cult with rituals/customs.
2. Each Tayp also had a certain festival associated with their "tribe-god". But there were also other festivals, such as spring festivals or New Year. Festivals were held near a "tsu" (temple).
3. Majority of the Chechen tribes also have their own tower (combat tower, tower complex) and their own mountain.
4. Each tribe had its own cemetery, where only people from that specific tribe were buried.
5. Each tribe also had their own elder council, called Taypan-Kkhel.

All students undertaking their summer clinical practice in the Chechen Republic are required to obtain a valid medical book (медицинская книжка) issued by the Sanitary and Epidemiological Authorities of the Chechen Republic in the following cases:

- if this is your first year of clinical practice; or
- if you do not already possess a valid medical book.

In order to obtain the medical book, students must undergo a mandatory set of:

- medical examinations;
- laboratory investigations;
- specialist consultations.

These procedures are required by the healthcare regulatory authorities to ensure the safety of both students and the patients with whom they will be working.

Students who already possess a medical book from the previous academic year are required to:

1. renew the medical book;
2. repeat all required laboratory tests and medical examinations as instructed by the sanitary authorities.

Students will only be permitted to begin their clinical practice after fulfilling all requirements and obtaining a valid medical book bearing the official stamp:

“Допущен к работе” (“Allowed access to work”).

Guidelines for Students Completing Clinical Practice in Home Countries

Students who plan to complete their clinical practice in their home countries must ensure that the practice is conducted exclusively in a hospital setting. Small private clinics, outpatient centers, or ambulatory facilities are not acceptable.

The hospital must include at least the following major inpatient departments:

- Internal Medicine (Therapy);
- Surgery.

This requirement is mandatory in order to ensure adequate clinical exposure and comprehensive professional training.

Upon completion of practice, students must provide the following documents:

1. an official confirmation/guarantee letter issued by the hospital;
2. a completed practice diary (to be provided);
3. an official reference letter from the clinical supervisor.

Failure to comply with the above requirements may result in the practice not being officially recognized.

Duration of Clinical Practice

The total duration of practice is 4 weeks, including:

- 2 weeks — Internal Medicine (Therapy)
- 2 weeks — Surgery

Please note that the exact dates and departmental assignments may vary from one student group to another.

Students will be provided with official admission cards (referral forms). These documents are of official importance and must not be lost under any circumstances.

Required Documents Upon Completion of Practice

At the conclusion of clinical practice, each student must submit:

- a completed practice diary (to be provided);
- an official reference letter from the clinical supervisor.

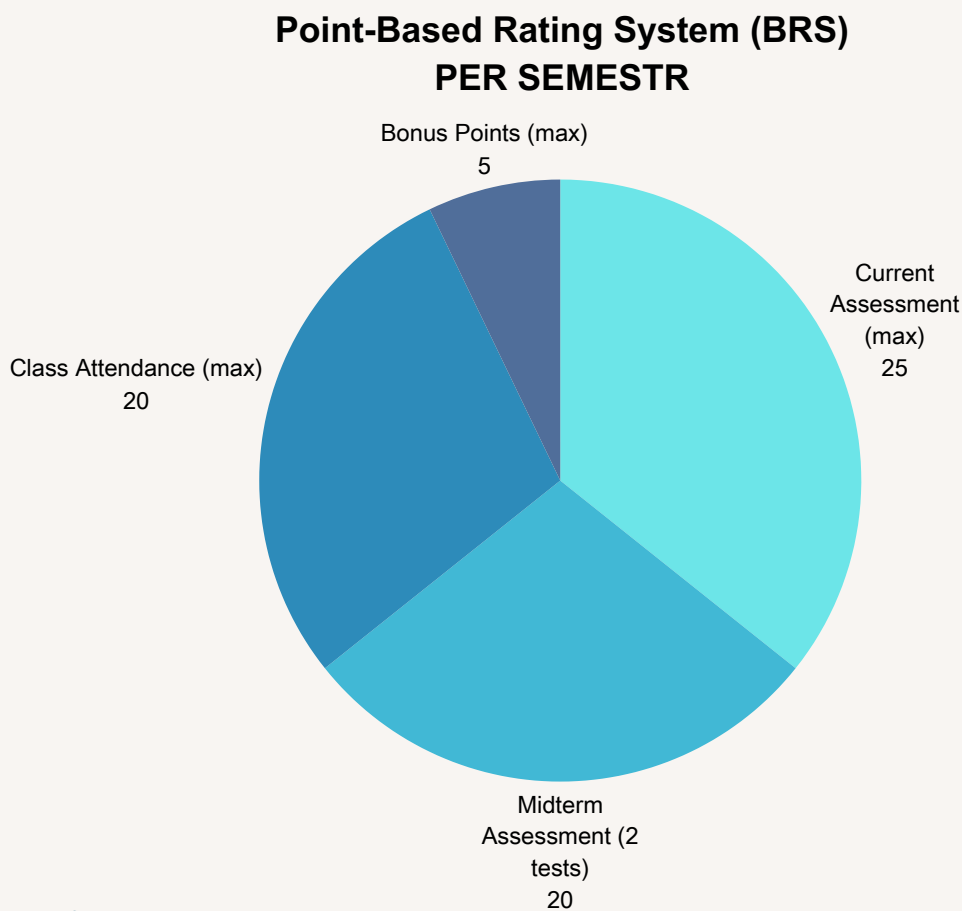

All requirements listed above are mandatory and must be strictly observed.

Student academic performance within the Point-Based Rating System (BRS) is evaluated throughout the semester based on several components. Each component contributes a specific number of points to the final score.

Assessment is carried out through:

- current assessment
- Midterm assessment
- Class attendance
- Bonus and penalty points

The maximum total score per discipline per semester is 70 points.

Explanation of Components

- Current Assessment (25 points): Includes quizzes, assignments, practical work, and other ongoing evaluations during the semester.
- Midterm Assessment (20 points): Consists of two intermediate tests assessing students' progress and understanding of the material.
- Class Attendance (20 points): Points are awarded for regular attendance and active participation in classes.
- Bonus / Penalty Points (±5 points): Bonus points may be awarded for exceptional performance or academic initiative, while penalty points may be deducted for violations of academic discipline or poor attendance.

CURRENT ASSESSMENT POLICY

Continuous monitoring of academic progress directly influences the final semester grade. This regulation establishes a transparent framework for converting a student's average academic mark into standardized rating points.

GRADE CONVERSION SCALE

Avg Grade	Points	Avg Grade	Points
2.5	4	3.8	21
2.6	7	3.9	21
2.7	10	4.0	22
2.8	13	4.1	22
2.9	16	4.2	23
3.0	19	4.3	23
3.1	19	4.4	23
3.2	20	4.5	23
3.3	20	4.6	24
3.4	20	4.7	24
3.5	20	4.8	24
3.6	21	4.9	24
3.7	21	5.0	25

HOW IT WORKS

- The average grade obtained during continuous assessment is systematically converted into points based on the institutional scale.
- The maximum score allocated for the continuous assessment stage is 25 points.
- This continuous assessment score contributes significantly to the overall total semester rating, which accumulates to a maximum of 70 points total.

KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

- Direct Correlation: Higher academic performance seamlessly translates to higher semester rating points.
- Peak Achievement: Achieving a perfect average grade of 5.0 guarantees the absolute maximum reward of 25/25 points.

These rules ensure fairness, transparency, and equal opportunities for all students.
Please plan your studies accordingly and strive for consistent academic performance.

MIDTERM ASSESSMENT (MAXIMUM: 20 POINTS)

MIDTERM ASSESSMENT POLICY

OVERVIEW

The Midterm Assessment consists of two Midterm Assessments, each carried out in two stages. These assessments evaluate students' academic progress and understanding of the course material during the semester.

STRUCTURE OF MIDTERM ASSESSMENTS

Stage 1: Oral or Written assessment

Stage 2: Computer-based test

Both stages are graded on a 5-point grading scale.

ATTENDANCE POINTS (MAX:20)

ATTENDANCE POINTS POLICY

Student attendance is a critical component of academic success and professional discipline. Attendance is strictly graded on a systematic scale, contributing a maximum of 20 points toward the final evaluation.

ATTENDANCE TO POINTS CONVERSION SCALE

No.	Attendance %	Points (out of 20)	No.	Attendance %	Points (out of 20)

8	88%	8	18	98%	18
9	89%	9	19	99%	19
10	90%	10	20	100%	20

CRITICAL ACADEMIC REGULATIONS & PENALTIES

- Severe Points Deduction: By the end of the academic year, students risk losing up to 20 points if they miss three classes without a valid, documented excuse.
- Dean's Office Mandate: The Dean's Office strictly requests all students to attend all lectures and practical seminars regularly, minimizing absences to avoid critical impact on academic records.

This document provides an illustrative step-by-step example and the regulatory framework for compiling your final comprehensive course score on a standardized 100-point scale.

STEP 1: CURRENT (PRE-EXAM) SCORE CALCULATION

Your cumulative score prior to the examination phase aggregates continuous performance indicators:

- Current Assessment: Average mark of 4.33 translates to 23 Points
- Attendance Record: Perfect attendance of 100% awards 20 Points
- Academic Attestations: Accumulated total of 17 Points
 - 1st Attestation: 8 points (out of 10)
 - 2nd Attestation: 9 points (out of 10)
- University Public Life Bonus: Active institutional involvement awards 3 Points

Total Pre-Exam Score: $23 + 20 + 17 + 3 = 63$ Points

✓ Eligibility Verified: 63 Points is sufficient to receive an automatic Pass (зачёт).

Note: The absolute minimum required pre-exam score to qualify for a pass is 51 points.*

FINAL ASSESSMENT RULES

Pass-Based Courses (зачёт):

A total score of 51 points or more is sufficient to successfully complete the course without an official numerical mark.

Exam-Based Courses:

If the curriculum mandates a final exam, a minimum pre-exam score of 40 points is strictly required to be admitted. Exam points are then explicitly added to your pre-exam rating.

Oral Exam Framework:

This evaluation utilizes an oral format exclusively (no written component). Performance scales map as follows:

- Grade 5 (Excellent) = 30 points
- Grade 4 (Good) = 25 points
- Grade 3 (Satisfactory) = 20 points

100-POINT FINAL CONVERSION SCALE

Score Range	ECTS Grade	5-Point Scale
96–100	Excellent	5
76–95	Good	4
51–75	Satisfactory	3
31–50	Unsatisfactory (2 Fx)	2
0–30	Unsatisfactory (2 F)	2
0–30	Fall	1

STEP 2 & 3: FINAL SCORE CALCULATION EXAMPLE

Assuming the student sits for the exam and earns the maximum exam performance tier (Grade 5 = 25 points):

63 (Pre-Exam Score) + 25 (Exam Points) = 88 Total Points

☀ Final Result Status: 88 Points = Grade 4 (GOOD) on the global 100-point institutional scale.

! Important Notice: The comprehensive Examination Admission Policy detailing exact criteria and prerequisite pathways is explicitly provided on the following page.

GRADING AND ADMISSION POLICY

Please note the following grading and admission policy:

AUTOMATIC PASS

Students who earn 51 points or higher are eligible for an automatic pass (meaning that during the final class they simply sign their record book without any additional assessment).

For disciplines that include a final examination – such as Biology and Chemistry (1st year); Normal Physiology and Biochemistry (2nd year); Propaedeutics of Internal Diseases, General Surgery, Pharmacology, and Pathological Physiology (3rd year) – the minimum score required for an automatic pass is 40 points or higher.

ADMISSION TO THE FINAL CREDIT ASSESSMENT

Admission to the final credit assessment (meaning that during the last class the instructor may conduct an oral assessment or additional questioning to allow the student to earn missing points) is granted under the following conditions:

40 POINTS OR HIGHER
for regular disciplines

and

31 POINTS OR HIGHER
for examination-based disciplines

If a student has:

- fewer than 40 points in a regular discipline, or
- fewer than 31 points in an examination-based discipline, the student is not admitted to either the examination or the final credit assessment. In such cases, no additional work or reassessment should be accepted during the final class, and the current results remain unchanged.

ADDITIONALLY

If a student's final score is 51 points or higher,

the student automatically receives a satisfactory grade ("3").

If the student wishes to improve the grade to a "4," they must take the examination.

If the student aims to receive an excellent grade ("5"),

the examination must be taken before an examination committee.

These rules ensure fairness, transparency, and equal opportunities for all students. Please plan your studies accordingly and strive for consistent performance.

AUTOMATIC EXAM GRADE INFORMATION

The teachers will calculate your points from the 1st and 2nd semesters and inform you whether you qualify for an automatic exam grade.

1 Automatic Grade (Grade 3)

A total of 61 points for both or one semester corresponds to a grade of 3, and this grade will be included in your diploma.

61 POINTS
= GRADE 3

If you do not want a grade of 3, you may choose to take the exam.

2 Take the Exam

If you receive a 3 on the exam, you will get an additional 20 points added to your existing 61 points:

$$\begin{array}{c} 61 \\ \text{POINTS} \end{array} + \begin{array}{c} 20 \\ \text{POINTS} \end{array} = \begin{array}{c} 81 \\ \text{POINTS} \end{array}$$

= GRADE 4

MULTI-SEMESTER EXAM GRADE WEIGHTING

For exams covering material from two semesters, your final grade is a weighted average based on the volume of material in each semester. This is a common situation for year-long courses.

Example for a Year-Long Course:

- 📖 Semester 1 (40% of material) gives you 45 points.
- 📖 Semester 2 (60% of material) gives you 55 points.

$$\text{Final Grade} = (45 \text{ points} \times 0.40) + (55 \text{ points} \times 0.60) = 51 \text{ Points}$$

2.7 MEDICAL EDUCATION IN RUSSIA

Medical education in Russia is renowned for its high quality, driven by the professionalism of its faculty, a wide range of academic programs—including those taught in English and French—and affordable tuition fees supported by partial government funding. In addition, studying at Russian medical universities offers international students excellent opportunities for professional development and career advancement in the field of medicine.

How Is Medical Education Structured in Russia?

Medical education in Russia is characterized by a complex and multi-level system.

First Level: Specialist Degree (5–6 years of study)

The starting point of medical education in Russia is enrollment in Specialist Degree programs.

To apply, an applicant must provide a certificate of complete secondary education with academic transcripts. It is important that the applicant studied biology, chemistry, and physics at school.

The duration of study for Specialist Degree programs is as follows:

- General Medicine — 6 years
- Dentistry — 5 years
- Pharmacy — 5 years
- Veterinary Medicine — 5 years

Second Level: Residency (2–5 years of study)

To obtain a narrow medical specialization—such as surgeon, cardiologist, gastroenterologist (or more than 100 other specialties)—and to be able to practice independently without supervision from senior colleagues, graduates must complete residency training.

The duration of residency ranges from 2 to 5 years, depending on the chosen specialty and the legal requirements of the country, which determine the mandatory length of training for professional recognition.

Third Level: Postgraduate Studies (PhD) (3 years of study)

If a student plans to focus on scientific research rather than clinical practice, they may consider enrolling in postgraduate (PhD) studies.

To be admitted to a PhD program, an applicant must hold a higher medical education diploma and a completed residency diploma.

No official language certificates are required!

Admission to the Faculty of International Education is open to applicants without prior knowledge of the Russian language. The university provides comprehensive Russian language training as part of the academic program, with a duration of three years, ensuring that students gradually develop the necessary language skills for both academic and everyday communication.

The main instruction is conducted in English, allowing international students to comfortably begin their studies from the first year. At the same time, the integrated approach to language learning enables students to become proficient in Russian, which enhances their academic experience and helps them better adapt to life in the Russian Federation.

Preparatory Faculty

Applicants who wish to enroll in Russian-language academic programs at the university are required to submit their documents in advance and accept the official offer of admission.

After completing the admission process, students begin a nine-month intensive Russian language course designed to develop the linguistic and academic skills necessary for successful study in Russian. The program focuses on all key aspects of language learning, including speaking, listening, reading, and writing, as well as subject-specific terminology.

Detailed information regarding the application process and submission of documents to the Preparatory Faculty can be found in (handbook 1.6)

Upon successful completion of the preparatory program, students are eligible to continue their studies in their chosen Russian-language degree program if they have Russian language certificate.

2.14 WEATHER & CLIMATE: WHAT TO PACK (CULTURAL ATTIRE AND NATIONAL ITEMS)

The Chechen Republic has a moderately continental climate with clearly defined seasons: a relatively mild winter and a hot, long summer. The climate varies significantly depending on altitude, ranging from dry lowland plains to cold, snowy highlands.

Winter ❄️

In the lowland areas, winters are generally mild, with average January temperatures around -3 to -4°C . However, winter can still feel cold, so it is important to bring warm winter clothing.

Summer ☀️

Summers are hot and sunny, with average July temperatures of $+22$ to $+39^{\circ}\text{C}$. Rainfall is low, about 300–400 mm per year, so summers are mostly dry.

☂️ It is recommended to bring an umbrella, and 🧴 sunscreen is essential during the summer months.

Mountain Regions 🏔️

In the mountainous areas, the climate is much colder. Winters are snowy, temperatures are lower, and precipitation is significantly higher—up to 1,200 mm per year. Glaciers remain in the high mountains throughout the year, creating a striking natural landscape.

Overall, Chechnya offers a diverse climate, allowing visitors and students to experience everything from warm summers in the plains to alpine conditions in the mountains.

Cultural Attire and National Items

As you prepare for your arrival, we kindly encourage you to bring your national or traditional clothing and other cultural items. Throughout the academic year, the university hosts various cultural, educational, and international events where students are invited to present and celebrate their cultural heritage.

Your traditional attire and cultural symbols will give you the opportunity to share your identity, traditions, and history with the university community, promote intercultural dialogue, and take part in vibrant cultural exchanges. These events are an important part of student life and help create a diverse, respectful, and inclusive environment on campus.

We look forward to learning about your culture and celebrating the richness of our international community together.

Q1. Can I buy medical insurance in my own country?

A: Foreign companies offer travel insurance, which does not cover planned treatment in Russian medical centers. To receive quality and timely medical care while studying in Russia you need to buy a medical insurance policy from a Russian company. It includes a minimum list of necessary medical services, and is accepted in clinics and hospitals – you can choose the one closest to the place where you will live or study. With health insurance you will not have to pay for standard medical services, you will just have to prove that you have a policy and a student ID card or passport.

Q2. Do I necessarily have to buy a health insurance policy for the time I study in Russia?

A: According to the Russian law, since 2016, it is necessary for every foreign citizen to have a medical policy. Since May 1, 2016 the minimum insurance amount for foreign citizens has increased to 500 000 rubles (The amount may change. Please confirm the current amount with the University's International Office.), it should be taken into account when applying for a medical insurance policy. Students can buy the policy on their own in the insurance company or arrange it with the help of international university department specialists. Absolutely all international students must purchase a medical policy at their own expense. On average, a medical insurance policy costs from 6,000 to 9,000 rubles per year.

Q3. Can I get Russian citizenship after graduating from a Russian university?

A: A foreign graduate of a Russian university may obtain Russian citizenship and even do so in a simplified procedure, if several conditions are met: he/she must have received education in the main educational programs that have state accreditation, in a state university on the territory of Russia. In addition, he/she must have worked in Russia in his profession for at least one year before applying. This will have to be confirmed when applying for citizenship – to submit a work certificate or a copy thereof, certified by the employer in the prescribed manner, as well as to provide other necessary documents.

Q4. Can I stay in Russia after graduating from a Russian university and to work?

A: It is not so easy to do. While studying at a Russian university a foreign student is in the country on a student visa, it is issued for the period of study. After graduation, you cannot stay in Russia and get a job without a work visa or a work permit. However, you can work while you are studying at the university.

Q5. How much money does a student spend on average in Russia? How much money do I need for the first time?

A: On average, a student needs $300–400 per month to live in Russia. But at first it is better to have about $300–400 more for additional expenses – medical insurance, arrangement of an apartment or dormitory (purchase of dishes, bedding, detergents). Of course, this is an approximate amount – it all depends on your habits and needs. You can spend both more and less. In general, Russian university students have a lot of benefits, which allows them to save money on transportation, entertainment and more. In addition, most universities have their own sports complexes, where students can practice for free or for a small fee.

Q6. How do I enroll as a fee-paying student?

A: For the current admission process you will not be able to apply for fee-based studies through education-in-russia.com. To do this, contact the university of your choice personally and find out what you need to do to enroll in a university for a fee.

USHKALOY TWIN TOWERS MORNING (09.00 - 12:00)

The Ushkaloy Towers are two restored watchtowers located in the Argun Gorge. They were built in the 10th–11th centuries along the Transcaucasian trade route, serving as defensive and observation structures that controlled and protected the strategic passage through the gorge. Scientists suggest that in the past the watchtowers were used as a customs post: travelers had to pay a toll to cross the bridge over the river. In the 20th century, the towers were destroyed, but they were later restored.

English Castle (Grozny Oil Research Institute Building), the historic building of the Grozny Oil Scientific Research Institute.

The building was constructed in the 1920s and commissioned by the British oil company Shell, which had a large representative office in Grozny at that time.

The structure is built in the Romanesque architectural style with Gothic elements, giving it the appearance of a medieval castle. Because of this distinctive architecture, the building became popularly known as the “English Castle.”

Originally, the building served as the central laboratory of Grozneft, the major oil company operating in the region. In 1928, the research institute moved into the building. During that period, the oil industry was rapidly developing, and the science of oil refining was also experiencing significant growth. As a result, the building was dedicated to scientists and researchers working in the field of petroleum technology.

Today, the “English Castle” remains an important historical and architectural landmark, symbolizing the scientific and industrial heritage of Grozny.

The fountain operates in the evenings from the 1st of May and during the summer season every day

4.14 PLACES TO VISIT IN GROZNY

Esambayev Boulevard is one of the central streets of Grozny. It stretches from Central Square to Theatre Square, where the Chechen State Drama Theatre named after Khanpasha Nuradilov is located. Along the boulevard, you'll find benches, flower beds, leisure areas, and beautiful lighting that create a welcoming atmosphere. The street is also home to shops, pharmacies, and a nearby park. There are many cafés and restaurants here, including Crispy, Drinks, Coffee Story, Tbilisi, and Nutella. Esambayev Boulevard is also a place where local creativity comes to life. Artists display and sell their paintings, and music lovers sometimes play the piano, adding a special charm to a casual walk.

The concept of the boulevard changes with each season: in winter, the area is decorated with glowing garlands; in autumn, umbrellas hang above the street; and during the holy month of Ramadan, lights shaped like crescents and stars create a festive atmosphere. The boulevard is almost never empty—you might only catch it quiet when the decorations are being changed.

On Esambayev Boulevard, there is the Youth Theater, where a young girl organizes screenings of some of the most famous films in cinema history.

If you would like to attend a screening, you should follow her on social media and watch for announcements about upcoming films at the theater. Ticket prices are affordable, usually up to 400 rubles.
